

Becoming a Great Leader

The old adage that ‘leaders are born, not made’ is simply untrue. While some may find the journey easier than others, leadership is an exciting challenge and the skills, behaviours and attitudes of an outstanding leader can all be learned.

This programme is ideal for leaders who want to develop their skills and confidence and manage their teams more effectively. It’s also an invaluable resource for new and aspiring leaders.

We focus on three core elements of leadership:

1. Personal leadership

Identifying strengths and weaknesses and developing a strong sense of self-awareness by exploring your own attributes, effectiveness, working relationships and strategies for improving self-awareness.

2. Team leadership

Learning to motivate and inspire teams in the face of challenges by considering positivity, creating a vision, leading by example and other key themes.

3. Task leadership

A good leader gets things done and influences positive change. We explore a toolkit of approaches and strategies (eg delegation, problem solving and continuous improvement) which you can use to lead successful change.

By the end of the session, delegates will be able to:

- define the core requirements of personal, team and task leadership
- raise their self-awareness
- develop a positive approach to leadership
- apply clear methods for inspiring their teams and colleagues to give their best
- embed practices that help them to become a great leader.
